Susi Blasco started out in small craftwork in 1990, creating handmade leather bracelets and selling them to local shops and acquaintances.

In 1995, due to the success of her creations, Susi Blasco decided to take the leap and become a wholesale production company for handmade leather accessories and began to successfully retail nationwide.

In 2002, the company took a big step by taking part in the Milan International Exhibition, which marked the international expansion of our products and the first work produced for Europe.

In 2003 and after participating once again in the Milan Exhibition, we began to process orders from the USA, Asia and Australia. Following the fair's success, we began participating in similar fairs in Hong Kong and the United States, even though that year our main market was still Spanish.

In recent years the trend is for a growth in exports. Our customers are very diverse in nature, ranging from department stores to high street retailers.

Since 1990, our aim is to create designs that are both handcrafted and exclusive.
